DR. RONALD FEDERICI RESPONDS TO INTERNET POSTINGS FILLED WITH BIZARRE, FRAUDULENT, SLANDEROUS AND PURE HATEFUL CONTENT

To All My Past, Current And New Families Around The World:

I am asking ALL who have read my WEBSITE, and prior to going any further in “Internet-Google-Yahoo Research” regarding my name and professional skills read these very important pages below. It will set your mind at ease, and give a real education about the wonderful “truths” of the Internet. Remember, Internet is 100% true!!

As most of you know, my name is Dr. Ronald Federici, Board-Certified Developmental Neuropsychologist/Clinical PsychoPharmacologist and Specialist in complex cases of Domestic/International Adoptions. I have dedicated my career to children with significant neurodevelopmental disabilities. I have been an International Expert in the field for twenty-six (26) years and hold multiple Degrees and Board Certifications which are ALL posted in my office and are well-known and validated by my State and National Licensing Agencies, and available to ALL if my Expert Colleagues and patients. My multiple degrees, licenses and Board Certifications are the by-product of a lifetime of hard work and dedication to children and families in need.

I am writing this commentary which has a “direct link” from my website as I have been designated an “International Public Figure” following a recent Federal Court Hearing by the Honorable Judge Bruce Lee (Eastern Federal District). In my petition to the courts, I attempted to put an immediate halt to fraudulent internet postings regarding myself, my family, professional career, credentials and clinical practice which have been made by a group of social and professional “misfits”, who operate a fringe advocacy group with a “mission” to discredit many well respected experts in the field of Child Development. Their motives remain a mystery, aside from emulating the infamous “National Enquirer” or equally slanderous and outrageous publications which “target” Public Figures. Remember, people with “ no lives, no qualifications, no job, no ethics, and no moral character are typically the first to slander and make false and hurtful statements. Their agenda is hatred vs free speech.

According to the Federal Court hearing which transpired on March 5, 2011, the Presiding Judge designated myself and everyone in my “Expert” category as “Public Figures” who have no choice but to endure the hardships of worldwide jurisdiction of Internet postings-whether they be fact, fiction, slander or outright bizarre allegations. Again, the Internet and National Inquirer have no limits to what they can publish about a “Public Figure”. Sad, but true. Just think about all the bizarre “stories” you may have read on the “Net?”

It seems that, following my 26 years of exemplary Clinical Practice (without any type of national or international complaint, malpractice suit or question regarding my professional credentials and abilities), there has emerged a “ coalition of individuals” who have found it their “ life mission “ to target both myself as well as many of the other “international experts” in child development-adoption and trauma medicine. All of these outstanding professional colleagues such as Dr. Gregory Keck, Heather Forbes, Nancy Thomas, Dr. Daniel Hughes, Dr. David Ziegler, Dr. Arthur Becker - Wiedeman and a host of others have been subject to the same vicious, malicious and fraudulent attacks by this same set of individuals who consider themselves to be “above the law”. Tragic as it may sound, these non-credentialed, non-clinicians, and unemployed individuals spend their days and nights writing the most slanderous and fraudulent posts on the Internet without a single “legal filter”, due to the First Amendment, and , more importantly, the right to freely criticize and disparage a “Public Figure”. Reality or fact does not matter here. Again, the “National Inquirer Mentality” prevails.

So here are the “Cast of Characters” that you may read about, or who have targeted me or others out of pure malice, vindictiveness, professional jealousy or just because they have too much spare time. MIND YOU, I KNOW NOT ONE OF THEM, nor have I ever dealt with in any professional or personal forum!! They are not in my league of morality or professionalism. They live in the following “worlds” or delusions:

1. Dr. Monica Pignotti dropped out of college to join the Church of Scientology. She rose to the highest levels of Scientology “processing” including the notorious “OT3” which teaches that Earth was used by the galactic warlord “Xenu” to murder alien spirits by dropping atom bombs on volcanoes.

While in Scientology, Pignotti became involved with Quentin Hubbard, son of Scientology founder L. Ron Hubbard. She now claims to be a “cult expert”.

Pignotti tired of Scientology and became a practitioner of “Thought Field Therapy” which is an unproven technique developed by Roger Callahan. “Thought Field Therapy” has a more advanced level called “Voice Technology” where conditions are diagnosed over the phone. The “cures” consist of tapping the body in various proprietary ways.

Ms. Pignotti has earned a Ph.D. in social work from Florida State University, but her actual practice-working with patients or clients-has been quite limited (it would seem she abandoned any kind of practice when she stopped doing “Thought Field Therapy”. Instead, she sees herself as a “professional critic” and spends most of her time attacking others.

I have never met Dr. Pignotti. I have invited her to my clinic to observe my work, and she has not accepted my invitation. Instead, she prefers to attack me on the Internet.

Dr. Pignotti is associated with the “Advocates for Children in Therapy Group” in Colorado as well as Charly D. Miller of Nebraska and Jean Mercer.

How and why she found me out is beyond belief but it is very clear that she is still in the middle of her cult-scientology-mentality and an individual who makes absolutely no common sense in this world we live in.

Her “blogs” are filled with lies, fabrications and malicious content. Why? Because she has never left the “cult” way of thinking which is to criticize anyone to “elevate” your own delusional beliefs that you are, in some way, “superior”. We wish her well on her next trip on “Spaceship Apollo”.

- 2. Jean Mercer holds a Ph.D. in academic psychology and is also a critic. She taught for 20-some years at a small university in New Jersey and has written books about child development but has never (and I mean never) evaluated or treated a patient as she is not eligible for any type of clinical license in any state or province. Furthermore, Ms. Mercer finds it comical to criticize the top-ranking people in the field of adoption medicine and child development by writing all types of books and bizarre articles about “restraint therapy” without ever dealing with a violent or out-of-control child. She was an author for Psychology Today who found it appropriate to fire her immediately as she did not follow instructions and directions following another court hearing when she continued to mention my name and was insolent when told that she had to cease and desist immediately.

Furthermore, Ms. Mercer never lectures in any capacity and is apparently now retired but finds it to be appropriate, along with her “colleague” Monica Pignotti, to criticize every professional in the field whom they have never met. Once again, it appears to be a cult-like mentality.

- 3. Larry Sarner of Loveland, CO holds bachelor’s degrees in political science and mathematics.

He is not a medical professional, and his qualifications to evaluate therapeutic methods are questionable at best.

Sarner is described as a mathematician, inventor, and cryptographer. His only “invention” seems to be a design for voting machines. In the 1980s, Sarner raised millions of dollars through loans and investments to develop these machines. The machines, unfortunately, did not work.

The result was litigation. Sarner ended up in bankruptcy. One of his former supporters was Peter Paul Luce, son of Time Magazine founder Henry Luce. Another was esteemed Denver politician Vern Bickel. Sarner never repaid either one of them.

Sarner appealed a court decision against him and claimed that a judge had conspired to take his property. The court did not even bother to hear this argument!

It is not clear what Mr. Sarner has done since then, except to criticize things he does not understand. I have never met him, but I have invited him to come and observe my work, which he seems to believe is dangerous. He has not accepted my invitation. If he did, he would see that I do nothing wrong, and that I work with many families who thank me for the progress made with their children.

Larry Sarner, incidentally, is a senior figure in “Advocates for Children in Therapy” which is operated from his home in Loveland, CO. In this context, Sarner has been described as a “legislative aide” even though no one is willing to name the legislator for whom Sarner has allegedly worked.

Advocates for Children in Therapy (ACT) is a very bizarre and unusual organization run by Larry Sarner and her nurse wife, Linda Rosa. Once again, both of these individuals have never met myself and have never held any type of clinical practice but find it comical to put up websites disparaging professionals such as myself and my colleagues as well as attacking professional publications, credentials, family members and even going as far as to make fraudulent statements on their websites. While they hold to “freedom of speech”, they are no different than writers for the National Enquirer.

Larry Sarner’s wife , Linda Rosa, spent her unemployed days performing “experiments” on her own daughter. Both very unusual people. Please get a real job!

Larry Sarner, Linda Rosa, Monica Pignotti are all part of the same fringe group “ACT”, and feel they are above the law. They have no morals and find it comical to violate copyright law. More cult-like thinking and behaviors. Maybe they will assume editorial positions at the National Inquirer?

- 4. Charlie Miller is one of the most unique and outrageous individuals who writes incredible web articles about my performing some type of “asphyxial therapy” and involved in killing children. Charlie Miller is a known alcoholic, drug addict and claims to be an emergency medical technician but she was fired for being intoxicated on her job and holds no job or license at this time in any type of medical field or child development. I have the court records for all to read.

Additionally, Charlie Miller was recently found guilty in Texas for writing fraudulent material regarding a prominent doctor and was appropriately sanctioned by the court and fined. She writes the most bizarre material which is unbelievable on her website and is no different than the rest of her colleagues (Pignotti, Mercer, Sarnier and Rosa). She makes claims of murder, death and child abuse about myself and many of my colleagues which have the same bizarre content as authors of the infamous National Enquirer.

Charlie Miller's current occupation is that of being unemployed and being part of a "Coven of Wenches Guild" which is a group of individuals who have nothing to do but dress up as witches and individuals from the past, much like what one has seen at a Renaissance Fair. This is her prime occupation.

5. Interestingly, all of these individuals have also recently affiliated with a very bizarre individual who lives in Lebanon and has been tied to Hamas. He is under FBI scrutiny. Daniel Ibyn Zaid has chimed in with these other cult-like individuals and bizarre authors and finds it comical to insult anybody that he finds to be a public figure as he has her own adoption issues and is a quite bizarre and clearly mentally maladjusted individual.

It is not surprising whatsoever that all of these individuals have "come together" and developed their own "attack forum" on multiple websites that you will read about which include both my name as well as many of the other prominent adoption-trauma experts in the United States who also have an exemplary record.

SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS:

With all of these factors in mind, I wanted to make this very direct and honest statement prior to your reading any of the garbage and rubbish on any of the future websites by these cult-like individuals who have nothing better to do with their lives but attack and attempt to interfere with the professionalism and business practices of both myself, Dr. Ronald Federici, and multiple colleagues across the country.

All of us believe that they are still in their cult-like mentality, unemployed, mentally unstable at multiple levels and have probably all worked for the National Enquirer or should get a job there as their writing certainly "fits the picture".

Should any of you have any questions regarding the veracity of this letter and my overall INTEGRITY, PROFESSIONAL and PERSONAL LIFE, credentials, qualifications and treatment approaches, I urge you to contact me directly any time of the day or night at (703) 830-6052 or write me an email directly at DrFederici@aol.com . I will respond to you directly by email or by phone and

I will personally make certain that you have every shred of “positive evidence” that every degree, credential, board certification, professional training, education and treatment program I have is valid and reliable, completely safe and has absolutely and unequivocally nothing to do with “attachment therapy” or other “crimes against humanity” these bizarre individuals have claimed in their web pages. Everything I do professionally and personally is moral and ethical, and , in no way, hurtful to any child. I would NOT be so successful and in practice if I did hurt a child.

If these cult-like individuals had any common sense at all, they would have realized that I have been a staunch supporter for children’s rights across the world. It is for these reasons, the Federal Judge designated me an “International Public Figure” who has to handle the bizarre people of the world who will attack on any level under the First Amendment, particularly for public figures who typically do not have much recourse, aside from to write disclaimers such as this one you are reading.

So, in conclusion, I have not tortured, killed, starved, re-birthed, controlled, hurt, bankrupted or done anything wrong or unethical in my personal or professional life, aside from a traffic ticket. I am not defending my position from these “critics” and unusual individuals. I am merely stating the true and unequivocal facts of my life and this outrageous situation and personal/professional attacks without merit/foundation or reality.

Again, I welcome any of your comments or questions directly without hesitation.

Dr. Ronald S. Federici, Neuropsychologist (And all around honest and decent guy)
